

INDEX TO VOLUME XXIX.

C.N. = Clinical and other Notes.
C.L. = Current Literature.

	PAGE		PAGE
Acetozone, on the use of, as a general surgical antiseptic, by Lieutenant-Colonel G. Gore-Gillon and Professor R. T. Hewlett... C.N.	232	Ballance, Colonel C. A., stories from the campaigns of Napoleon and Wellington	235, 357
Adrian, Captain E. D., the physiological basis of electrical tests in peripheral nerve injury	160	Bandage, head, new form of, by Captain E. M. Jenkins C.N.	604
Agglutination, studies in, by Captain R. P. Garrow.. .. .	412	Barrett, Lieutenant-Colonel, a note on the management and importance of chronic otitis media .. C.N.	720
Albuminuria and glycosuria, dietetic fallacies in connexion with, by H. French.. .. .	534	Bell, Lieutenant and Quartermaster, the field kitchen at a casualty clearing station C.N.	584
Amara Clinical Society, meeting of ..	91	Beriberi and scurvy, substances for the prevention of, by Harriette Chick and E. Margaret Hume	121
Ambulance, motor, construction improvements in, by Major R. W. D. Leslie and Captain G. A. Child C.N.	598	Bilharziasis, notes on, by Major A. R. Ferguson	57
Anaerobic infection of wounds, potassium permanganate in the treatment of, by Captain F. B. Gurd ..	202	Brilliant green, enrichment method for the isolation of the paratyphoid bacilli from faeces, by Captain T. J. Mackie	457
Anderson, Captain W., cases of meningococcus septicaemia	463	Brown, H. R., cases of meningococcus septicaemia	463
Aneurism of the carotid, ligation of the innominate artery for traumatic, by Colonel Thomas Sinclair .. C.N.	721	Bullets and shrapnel balls, localization of, by one radiograph on one plate, by Captain A. H. Pirie C.N.	580
Aneurisms of the retinal arteries, by Captain J. A. Pringle .. C.N.	497	Byam, Major W., trench fever ..	560
Antibodies, of skin-flaps or grafts, the immunization, or furnishing with .. C.L.	377	Carotid artery, ligation of the common, notes on three cases, by Captain J. J. M. Shaw C.N.	333
Armstrong, Captain W. E. M., a method of treatment for conjunctivitis C.N.	112	Carotid, traumatic aneurism of the, ligation of the innominate artery for, by Colonel Thomas Sinclair .. C.N.	721
Bacillus faecalis alkaligenes , observations on the pathogenicity and specific characters of, by Captain L. F. Hirst C.N.	476	Carrel-Dakin, treatment of wounds, report of a visit to France to study the	616
Bacteriological examinations of soldiers, by Captain W. Fletcher	545, 694	Carslow, Major R. B., notes on the use of flavine in the treatment of infected gunshot wounds .. C.N.	488

	PAGE		PAGE
Casualty clearing station, the field kitchen at a, by Lieutenant and Quartermaster V. A. Bell .. C.N.	584	Drying room, arrangement for heating, from incinerator, by Lieutenant-Colonel J. Mackinnon .. C.N.	329
Catheter, ureteral, to localize missiles in the region of the kidney and ureter, by Colonel Andrew Fullerton .. C.N.	51	Dysentery and enteric groups, report upon the bacteriological examination of, by Captain W. Fletcher .. C.N.	545, 679
Cerebrospinal fever fulminating, prognosis and treatment, by Captains P. W. Maclagan and W. E. Cooke .. C.N.	228	Eastwood, Staff-Serjeant J., a note on the mode of existence of flies during winter .. C.N.	98
Chambers, Lieutenant-Colonel G., an outbreak of infectious jaundice occurring among soldiers of the British forces .. C.N.	108	Electrical tests in peripheral nerve injury, by Captain E. D. Adrian .. C.N.	160
Chiasma, optic, a case of oblique hemianopia from wound of the, by Colonel Purves Stewart and Captain A. D. Griffith .. C.N.	216	Elsner, Lieutenant-Colonel O. W. A., adaptation of the Miller-James stretcher-carrier for trench work .. C.N.	715
Chick, Harriette, the distribution of foodstuffs (especially those suitable for the rationing of armies) required for the prevention of beriberi and scurvy .. C.N.	121	Entamoeba histolytica "carriers," a report on the treatment of, with emetine bismuth iodide, by D. G. Lillie and Captain S. Shephard .. C.N.	700
Child, Captain G. A., improvement in motor ambulance construction .. C.N.	598	Entamoeba histolytica infection, report on the treatment of fifty-nine cases of, by R. E. Savage and Captain J. R. Young .. C.N.	249
Chlorine gas poisoning, the treatment of, by Captain A. S. Hebblethwaite .. C.N.	694	Ferguson, Major A. R., some notes on Bilharziasis .. C.N.	57
Colt, Captain G. H., a case of gunshot wounds of face and thighs, oedema of glottis, death under nitrous oxide anaesthesia .. C.N.	337	Field kitchen at a casualty clearing station, by Lieut. and Quartermaster V. A. Bell .. C.N.	584
Conjunctivitis, a method of treatment for, by Captains F. Jefferson and W. E. M. Armstrong .. C.N.	112	Filters and Filtration, by Major F. J. Marett .. C.N.	206
Cooke, Captain W. E., fulminating cerebrospinal fever, prognosis and treatment .. C.N.	228	Firth, Colonel R. H., some musings of an idle man .. C.N.	301
CORRESPONDENCE—		Flavine, in the treatment of infected gunshot wounds, notes on the use of, by Major R. B. Carslaw .. C.N.	488
Presence of Bacillus pyocyaneus in water supplies; tissue paper latrine receptacles for use in the field .. C.N.	629	Fletcher, Captain W., report upon the bacteriological examination of 1,000 soldiers convalescent from diseases of the dysentery and enteric groups .. C.N.	545, 679
Cowper, Captain, G. M., a new apparatus for the treatment of gunshot fractures of the humeral shaft .. C.N.	594	Flies, existence of, during winter, by Captain R. P. McDonnell and Staff Serjeant T. Eastwood .. C.N.	98
Davidson, Captain N., multiple severe injuries from a bomb explosion; operation; recovery .. C.N.	346	Fooks, Lieutenant H. J., complete fracture of the upper jaw .. C.N.	717
Davidson, F. C., cases of meningococcus septicæmia .. C.N.	463	Foreign bodies, a simple, rapid and accurate method of localization of, by Captain H. E. Gamlen .. C.N.	210
Dietetics, fallacies in connexion with glycosuria and albuminuria .. C.N.	534	Foreign bodies, removal of, from the upper surface of the diaphragm, by Captain E. D. Telford .. C.N.	114
Dimond, Captain, L., trench fever .. C.N.	560

	PAGE		PAGE
Foulerton, Major A. G. R., on typhus fever C.N.	224	Glycosuria and albuminuria, dietetic fallacies in connexion with, by Major H. French	534
Fracture of the upper jaw, complete, by Lieutenant H. J. Fooks... C.N.	717	Gore-Gillon, Lieutenant-Colonel G., on the use of acetozone as a general surgical antiseptic C.N.	232
Fractured limbs, a device for suspending, during transport, by Captain O. Richards C.N.	331	Grafts or skin flaps, the immunization or furnishing with antibodies of C.L.	377
Fractures, Gunshot, of the humeral shaft, a new apparatus for the treatment of, by Captain G. M. Cowper C.N.	594	Gray, Major A. C. H., cases of meningococcus septicæmia	463
Fractures, long bones, on the treatment of, by Major Gordon Taylor C.N.	493	Grease trap, a simple improvised, by Lieutenant-Colonel J. H. Neal C.N.	214
French, Major H., dietetic fallacies in connexion with glycosuria and albuminuria	524	Griffith, Captain A. D., a case of oblique hemianopia from wound of optic chiasma.. .. . C.N.	216
Fullerton, Colonel Andrew, the use of the opaque ureteral catheter to localize missiles in the region of the kidneys and ureter	51	Gunshot wound of head, by Major G. Sichel C.N.	339
Gamlen, Captain H. E., a simple, rapid and accurate method for localization of foreign bodies C.N.	210	Gunshot wound of the cranium, by Colonel Cuthbert Wallace .. C.N.	713
Garrow, Captain R. P., a case of acute torsion of the whole mesentery of the small intestine C.N.	714	Gunshot wound of the lung .. C.L.	376
Garrow, Captain R. P., studies in agglutination	412	Gunshot wounds of face and thighs, œdema of glottis, by Major G. H. Colt C.N.	337
Gas-poisoning, chlorine, the treatment of, by Captain A. S. Hebblethwaite	694	Gurd, Captain F. B., potassium permanganate in the treatment of anaerobic infection of wounds	202
Gas-poisoning, punctiform hæmorrhages of the brain in, by Major F. W. Mott	38	Haydon, Captain A. D., remarks on the condition known as trench foot	181
Gatt, Major J. E. H., presence of Bacillus pyocyaneus in water supplies, and tissue paper latrine receptacles for use in the field, note from	629	Head bandage, a new form of, by Captain E. M. Jenkins .. C.N.	604
Gelatine, attempts to substitute for proteid food, the gelatine being extracted from hides, bones, etc. C.L.	377	Hebblethwaite, Captain A. S., the treatment of chlorine gas poisoning	694
German Medical Congress at Warsaw C.L.	245	Hemianopia from wound of optic chiasma, a case of oblique, by Colonel Purves Stewart and Captain A. D. Griffith.. .. . C.N.	216
Gibson, Captain H. G., a note on the occurrence of experimental paratyphoid infection in rabbits which proved fatal, with lesions resembling those found in man C.N.	601	Heriot, Captain L. F., observations on the pathogenicity and specific characters of the Bacillus fecalis alkaligenes C.N.	476
Gill, Major C. A., the prevention of malaria in war, with special reference to the Indian Army	439	Hernia, traumatic, of the diaphragm, notes on a case of, proving fatal seven months after the wound N.	349
		Herringham, Colonel W. P., cases of meningococcus septicæmia	463
		Hewlett, Professor R. T., on the use of acetozone as a general surgical antiseptic C.N.	232

	PAGE		PAGE
Hume, F. M., distribution of foodstuffs (especially those suitable for the rationing of armies) required for the prevention of beriberi and scurvy	121	Lillie, D. G., report on the treatment of Entamoeba histolytica carriers with emetine bismuth iodide, etc. C.N.	700
Hypnotic suggestion, an account of twenty cases treated by, by Lieutenant J. B. Tombleson	C.N. 340	Localization of bullets and shrapnel balls by one radiograph on one plate, by Captain A. H. Pirie	C.N. 580
Incinerator, arrangement for heating, drying room from, by Lieut.-Colonel J. MacKinnon	C.N. 329	Lung, gunshot wound of the	C.L. 376
Innominate artery, ligation of the, for traumatic aneurism of the carotid, by Colonel Thomas Sinclair	C.N. 721	MacCormac, Major H., skin diseases and their treatment under war conditions	507
James, Lieutenant-Colonel S. P., note recording the proof that Anopheles maculipennis is an efficient host of the benign tertian malaria parasite in England	C.N. 615	McDonnell, J., cases of meningococcus septicæmia	463
James, Lieutenant-Colonel S. P., the intravenous administration of quinine bihydrochloride in malaria	317	McDonnell, Captain R. P., a note on the mode of existence of flies during winter	C.N. 98
Jardine, Captain W. C., a few notes on the venereal division of a General Hospital, Alexandria	C.N. 100	Mackie, Captain T. J., the brilliant green enrichment method for the isolation of the paratyphoid bacilli from feces	457
Jaundice infections, an outbreak of, occurring among the soldiers of the British Forces, by Lieutenant-Colonel G. Chambers	C.N. 108	Mackie, Captain T. J., the diagnostic interpretation of the agglutination test in typhoid and paratyphoid infections occurring among typhoid vaccinated troops	276
Jaw, complete fracture of the upper, by Lieutenant H. J. Fooks	C.N. 717	Mackinnon, Captain J., arrangement for heating drying room from incinerator	C.N. 329
Jefferson, Captain F., a method of treatment for conjunctivitis	C.N. 112	McLachlan, Lieutenant A. R., ligation of the right internal iliac artery for secondary hæmorrhage from the buttock	C.N. 592
Jenkins, Captain E. M., a new form of head bandage	C.N. 604	Maclagan, Captain P. W., fulminating cerebrospinal fever, prognosis and treatment	C.N. 228
Latrine, a sanitary box, by Lieutenant-Colonel E. J. Williams	C.N. 117	MacMahon, Cortlandt, shell shock, stammering and other affections of voice and speech	192
LECTURE—		McNee, Captain J. W., cases of meningococcus septicæmia	463
Stories from the campaigns of Napoleon and Wellington, by Colonel C. A. Ballance	235, 357	Malaria in war, with special reference to the Indian Army, the prevention of, by Major C. A. Gill	439
Leslie, Major R. W. D., improvement in motor ambulance construction	C.N. 598	Malaria, notes on, by J. D. Thomson	379
Ligation of the innominate artery for traumatic aneurism of the carotid, by Colonel Thomas Sinclair	C.N. 721	Malaria parasite in England, benign tertiary, by Lieutenant-Colonel S. P. James	C.N. 615
Ligature of the right internal iliac artery for secondary hæmorrhage, by Captain R. L. Scott and Lieutenant A. R. McLachlan	C.N. 592	Malaria, the intravenous administration of quinine bihydrochloride, by Lieutenant-Colonel S. P. James	317
		Malaria, treatment of cases in the United Kingdom	354

	PAGE		PAGE
Malarial fever, diagnosis and treatment of, by Captain David Thomson	1	Peripheral nerve injury, the physiological basis of electrical tests in, by Captain E. D. Adrian	160
Marett, Major F. J., filters and filtration	C.N. 206	Pirie, Captain A. H., localization of bullets and shrapnel balls by one radiograph on one plate	C.N. 580
Meningococci, agglutinin test of the types obtained from the cerebrospinal fluid of cases, by Captain W. J. Tulloch	66	Poisoning, gas, punctiform hæmorrhages of the brain in, by Major F. W. Mott	38
Meningococcus septicæmia, cases of, by Captain W. Anderson, J. W. McNee, H. R. Brown, A. Renshaw, J. McDonnell, F. C. Davidson, and Major A. C. H. Gray	463	Poisoning, gas, the treatment of chlorine, by Captain A. S. Hebblethwaite	C.N. 694
Miller-James stretcher-carrier for trench work, by Lieutenant-Colonel O. W. A. Elsner	C.N. 715	Pringle, Captain J. A., a case of multiple aneurisms of the retinal arteries	C.N. 497
Motor ambulance construction, improvements in, by Major R. W. D. Leslie and Captain G. A. Child	C.N. 598	Protozoological experiences during the summer and autumn of 1916, by H. M. Woodcock	290
Mott, Major F. W., punctiform hæmorrhages of the brain in gas poisoning	38	Quinine, bihydrochloride, the intravenous administration of, in malaria, by Lieutenant-Colonel S. P. James	317
Mott, Major F. W., the microscopic examination of the brains of two men dead of commotio cerebri without visible external injury	662	Renshaw, A., cases of meningococcus septicæmia	463
Neal, Lieutenant-Colonel J. H., a simple improvised grease trap	C.N. 214	REPORT—
Nitrous oxide anaesthesia, death under, a case of gunshot wounds of face and thighs, œdema of glottis, by Major G. H. Colt	C.N. 337	Provisional instructions for the treatment of cases of malaria in the United Kingdom	354
Optic chiasma, a case of oblique hemianopia from wound of, by Colonel Purves Stewart, and Captain A. D. Griffith	C.N. 216	Visit to France to study the Carrel-Dakin treatment of wounds	616
Otitis media, a note on the management and importance of chronic, by Lieut.-Colonel J. W. Barrett	C.N. 720	REVIEWS—
Paresis arising out of the war, some cases of so-called functional, and their treatment, by Major R. A. Veale	C.N. 607	"Acute Appendicitis," by C. Hamilton Whiteford	628
Patterson, Major S. W., preliminary note on spirochaetes occurring in the urine of cases of "P. U. O."	C.N. 503	"Shell shock and its injuries" by G. Elliott Smith	375
Peacock, Lieutenant A. D., trench fever	560	Reynolds, R. J., methods in the X-ray department of a military hospital and the treatment of trench foot	323
		Richards, G. E., X-ray reports	C.N. 221
		Richards, Captain O., a device for suspending fractured limbs during transport	C.N. 331
		Sanitary box latrine, by Lieutenant-Colonel E. J. Williams	C.N. 117
		Savage, R. E., report on the treatment of fifty-nine cases of Entamoeba histolytica infection	249
		Scalp, a note on a simple method of repairing defects of the, by Colonel Cuthbert Wallace	C.N. 713

	PAGE		PAGE
Scott, Captain R. L., ligature of the right internal iliac artery for secondary hæmorrhage from the buttock C.N.	592	Stretcher carrier for trench work, adaptation of the Miller-James's, by Lieutenant-Colonel O. W. A. Elsner C.N.	715
Scurvy and beri-beri, substances for the prevention of, by Harriette Chick and E. Margaret Hume	121	Symonds, Captain C. P., notes on a case of traumatic hernia of the diaphragm proving fatal seven months after the wound C.N.	349
Septicæmia, meningococcus, cases of, by Captain W. Anderson, J. W. McNeé, H. R. Brown, A. Renshaw, J. McDonnell, F. C. Davidson, and Major A. C. H. Gray	463	Taylor, Major Gordon, on the treatment of fracture of long bones C.N.	493
Shaw, Captain J. J. M., notes on three cases of ligature of the common carotid artery at a casualty clearing station C.N.	333	Telford, Captain E. D., removal of a bullet from the upper surface of the diaphragm C.N.	114
Shell shock, stammering, and other affections of voice and speech, by Cortlandt MacMahon	192	Tetanus, on the bacteriology of wound infections in cases of	631
Shell shock, without injury, the microscopic examination of the brains of two men dead of commotio cerebri	662	Thomson, Captain David, the diagnosis and treatment of malarial fever	1
Shepherd, Captain S., a report on the treatment of Entamoeba histolytica "carriers" with emetine bismuth iodide, etc. C.N.	700	Thomson, J. D., notes on malaria	379
Sichel, Major G., a case of gunshot wound of head C.N.	339	Tombleson, Lieutenant J. B., an account of twenty cases treated by hypnotic suggestion C.N.	340
Sinclair, Colonel Thomas, ligation of the innominate artery for traumatic aneurism of the carotid C.N.	721	Torsion of the whole mesentery of the small intestine, a case of acute, by Captain R. P. Garrow C.N.	714
Skin conditions and their treatment under war conditions, by Major H. MacCormac	507	Traumatic aneurism of the carotid, ligation of the innominate artery for, by Colonel Thomas Sinclair C.N.	721
Skin flaps or grafts, the immunization or furnishing with antibodies of C.L.	377	Trench fever, by Major W. Byam, and Captains L. Dimond and V. E. Sorapure, and Lieutenants R. M. Wilson and A. D. Peacock	560
Sorapure, Captain V. E., trench fever	560	Trench foot, remarks on the condition known as, by Captain A. D. Haydon	181
Spirochætes occurring in the urine of cases of "P. U. O.," preliminary note on, by Major S. W. Patterson C.N.	503	Trench foot, treatment of, methods employed in the X-ray department, by R. J. Reynolds	323
Splints, a new apparatus for the treatment of gunshot fractures of the humeral shaft, by Captain G. M. Cowper C.N.	594	Trench nephritis, experiences with C.L.	378
Stammering, shell-shock, and other affections of voice and speech, by Cortlandt MacMahon	192	Tulloch, Captain W. J., on the bacteriology of wound infections in cases of tetanus, etc.	631
Stewart, Colonel Purves, a case of oblique hemianopia from wound of optic chiasma C.N.	216	Tulloch, Captain W. J., on the differentiation by means of the absorption agglutinin test of the types of meningococci obtained from the cerebrospinal fluid of cases during the current outbreak of cerebrospinal fever	66

	PAGE		PAGE
Typhoid-vaccinated troops, typhoid and paratyphoid infection occurring among, the diagnostic interpretation, by Captains J. J. Mackie and H. G. Wiltshire	276	Wilson, Lieutenant R. M., trench fever	560
Typhus fever, by Major A. G. R. Foulerton	C.N. 224	Wiltshire, Captain H. G., the diagnostic interpretation of the agglutination test in typhoid and paratyphoid infections occurring among typhoid-vaccinated troops	276
Ureteral catheter to localize missiles in the region of the kidney and ureter, by Colonel Andrew Fullerton	51	Wolhynia fever	C.L. 377
Veale, Major R. A., some cases of so-called functional paresis arising out of the war and their treatment	C.N. 607	Woodcock, H. M., protozoological experiences during the summer and autumn of 1916	290
Venereal division of a general hospital, a few notes on the, by Captain W. C. Jardine	C.N. 100	Wound, gunshot, of the cranium, a simple method of repairing defects, by Colonel Cuthbert Wallace	C.N. 713
Wallace, Colonel Cuthbert, a note on a simple method of repairing defects of the scalp	C.N. 713	Wounds, anaerobic infection of, potassium permanganate in the treatment of, by Captain F. B. Gurd	202
Warsaw, German Medical Congress at	C.L. 245	Wounds, gunshot, notes on the use of flavine in the treatment of, by Major R. B. Carslaw	C.N. 488
Williams, Lieutenant-Colonel E. J., a sanitary box latrine	C.N. 117	X-ray department of a military hospital, and the treatment of trench foot, by R. J. Reynolds	323
		X-ray report, by G. E. Richards	C.N. 221
		Young, Captain J. R., report on the treatment of fifty-nine cases of Entamoeba histolytica infection	249